GEORGE WASHINGTON'S

FIRST THANKSGIVING PROCLAMATION

October 3, 1789

Whereas, it is the duty of all nations to acknowledge the providence of Almighty God, to obey His will, to be grateful for His benefits, and humbly to implore His protection and favor; and

Whereas, both Houses of Congress have, by their joint committee, requested me "to recommend to the people of the United States a day of public thanksgiving and prayer; to be observed by acknowledging with grateful hearts the many and signal favors of Almighty God, especially by affording them an opportunity peaceably to establish a form of government for their safety and happiness.

Now, therefore, I do recommend and assign Thursday, the 26th day of November next, to be devoted by the people of these States to the service of that great and glorious Being who is the beneficient author of all the good that was, that is, or that will be; that we may then all unite in rendering unto Him our sincere and humble thanks for His kind care and protection of the people of this country previous to their becoming a nation; for the signal and manifold mercies and the favorable interpositions of His providence in the course and conclusion of the late war; for the great degree of tranquility, union, and plenty which we have since enjoyed; for the peaceable and rational manner in which we have been enabled to establish constitutions of government for our safety and happiness, and particularly the national one now lately instituted; for the civil and religious liberty with which we are blessed, and the means we have of acquiring and diffusing useful knowledge; and, in general, for all the great and various favors which He has pleased to confer upon us.

And also that we may then unite in most humbly offering our prayers and supplications to the great Lord and Ruler of Nations, and beseech Him to pardon our national and other transgressions; to enable us all, whether in public or private stations, to perform our several and relative duties properly and punctually; to render our National Government a blessing to all the people by constantly being a Government of wise, just and constitutional laws, discreetly and faithfully executed and obeyed; to protect and guide all sovereigns and nations (especially such as have shown kindness to us), and to bless them with good governments, peace, and concord; to promote the knowledge and practice of true religion and virtue, and the increase of science among them and us; and generally, to grant unto all mankind such a degree of temporal prosperity as He alone knows to be best.

Given under my hand, at the city of New York, the 3rd day of October A.D. 1789.

Highway Alert On For Thanksgiving

Slick roads caused law enforcement officials concern for motorist's safety over the Thanksgiving holiday when traffic is usually at a peak.

Of more concern locally, however, was an increase in incidents of driving while intoxicated. Charges of driving while intoxicated resulted in eight motorists spending time in Milam County jail in the past two weeks, according to Sheriff Carl Black.

December usually registers an increase in incidence of DWI. It is also a time when traffic is heavier than normal.

Death toll on Milam County highways this year reached 14 after seven were killed in a 2-car crash on US 77 in October. Highway Patrolman Milton Wright said that six of the previous fatal accidents involved intoxicated drivers or drivers who had been drinking at the time of the accidents.

Forty - five separate charges of driving while intoxicated have been filed in Milam County this year and law enforcement officials assume that only a fraction of the intoxicated drivers are discovered. City court records are also heavy with DWI charges.

Holiday Schedule Set By Cameron Schools

Classes were dismissed from Cameron public schools and from St. Anthony School Wednesday afternoon for Thanksgiving holidays and will resume Monday morning, December 2.

All Cameron schools will start the Christmas holidays Friday afternoon, December 20, with classes beginning January 2, 1969 at the regular time.

Cameron public schools reported normal absentee figures for this time of year, with several children absent because of mumps.

Employment Service Will Begin Monday For Area Residents

A community employment service will go into action on Monday in Cameron, sponsored by Cameron Chamber of Commerce and the First United Methodist Church.

The employment service will be primarily for unskilled and domestic help, according to John Henderson Jr., spokesman for the joint effort.

Application forms for both employees and employers will be available at the Chamber office starting Monday, December 2. Employers will necessarily be limited to Cameron, but any resident of the Cameron trade area can apply for jobs.

"This is a general program," Henderson said, "and is open to all types of general employment in Cameron. There is no obligation or expense to either the applicant or employer looking for help."

He emphasized that job-seekers must come to the Chamber office to fill out application forms. However, an employer may phone in his or her request for help. Coordination of requests will be handled by the Chamber of Commerce.

The need for a community employment service in Cameron had long been recognized by First Methodist's Commission on Social Concerns and by many others interested in helping people who needed jobs but had no means of communicating that need.

SCENE SET FOR SANTA'S VISIT IN CITY

The Christmas season was officially ushered in this week as Texas Power and Light Co workmen hung street decorations in downtown Cameron.

Main attraction for children this year will be a visit with Santa each Saturday afternoon beginning this week, November 30, from 1 to 6 p.m. in the courthouse. Santa will be in full dress and jolly humor ready to note the Christmas wishes of children who visit him. Rumor is spreading that he will also be ready with goodies for his small visitors.

Decorations purchased last year by the Chamber of Commerce are brightening downtown streets. The red and silver streamers hanging across downtown streets are centered with large red Christmas bells. The decorations were bought through contributions from the City of Cameron, local civic organizations and businesses and individuals.

Retail stores and offices were also decorating for Christmas in an effort to make Cameron Christmas headquarters for the surrounding area. Strings of lights, most needing some repair, are available for loan from the Chamber of Commerce, Delbert Burleson, chairman of the Christmas Committee, said the lights were from decorations formerly used on downtown streets.

The Christmas parade which usually opens the Christmas season here was canceled this year because of lack of participation in recent years.

In past years local churches and civic groups had entered floats in the Cameron parade along with floats entered by scout troops and business firms. Following last year's parade the Chamber board of directors voted to discontinue.

Justice Reavley Urges U. S. Unity

More than 100 Milam County and Central Texas leaders Tuesday heard Texas Supreme Court Justice Tom Reavley decry an "Era of Dark Perception" and urge unity among American people.

He addressed a Thanksgiving gathering of Cameron and Rockdale Rotary clubs, city noon and evening Lions clubs and guests from Rockdale, Marlin, Hearne and Waco, including Cong. W. R. Poage.

The group of civic clubs met at Cameron's First Methodist Fellowship Hall.

Justice Reavley, appointed to a Supreme Court vacancy October 10 and elected to a four - year term in the November general election, spoke with conviction and without notes.

He said "we must unify for two reasons."

ONE—"This calls on restraint in what we say and what we think of somebody and some politicians. We've overreacted, overkilled and we've taken a toll. We must work at curbing our tongues."

TWO—"We must cease emphasizing the gaps that don't matter. There are a lot of gaps that do matter; the other gaps are over emphasized."

"The truth is there are wise people over 30 and under 30. There are wise people who are black and there are wise people who are white," he said.

"There have been blunders in the North and the South. And there are racists of both kinds, black and white," he continued.

He mentioned "the Cleavers, the Carmichaels, the Rap Browns in one classification."

And Justice Reavley mentioned "others who ride in the night."

"We must concern ourselves with gaps that matter," he reiterated.

"We imitate each other too much. We let national publications and fiction writers set our conduct. It is time to think for ourselves," he continued.

"We have had so much negative emphasis," he said.

Things are not perfect, but "we must find one thing to be for," the Justice continued.

He described four and a half years as a district judge hearing divorces and so often "parties never knew what commitment was."

He alluded to his interest in his son, saying, "A man not committed to a youngster is not likely to know anything about commitment."

"I am proud of America and my commitment to my son and wife and I believe in this system," he said.

"The man who stands committed all the time is going to make more of a contribution," he continued.

Looking at a good segment of leaders in Central Texas, he emphasized: "This country needs to hear men like you and me say it."

"Say something positive, gentlemen, the world needs it," continued

With F.M.L.

At this Thanksgiving, the world is ambivalent, more recognizably than ever. We have more information to see with and more facts to see through.

Wisdom says that irony is thin thinking, that a broad-view of things sees both sides, or the numerous ones as publisher Henry Luce told a reporter one time.

How can we know thanks for our blessings in a world mixed with hate, the ugly side of love?

We can choose, regardless of the final reason that we choose. The divisions are not any newer than alternatives facing the Pilgrims in Massachusetts.

They came to North America, and the colder part at that, hoping to land at the Jamestown colony that preceded them in Virginia. Their establishment of New England, well up the coast then, may be considered an irony of weather, for it was too late to sail the Mayflower south to Jamestown.

They gave thanks for their blessings. They made peace with the Indians of that country and shared a thanksgiving feast with the Redmen.

Interests over ensuing Thanksgivings inevitably conflicted. And French traders and colonists fought, with Indian aid, the English in the New England and New York area, prior to the American Revolution. American colonists broke with their British ancestry, fought their war, declared as in George Washington's proclamation an official Thanksgiving and became a nation.

Irony again developed when other Redmen resisted the colonists and succeeding generations from the Kentucky frontier, across the Louisiana Purchase, along Rogers and Clark's Northwest Passage, southwest through Houston and Austin't Texas, across the Oklahoma territory, where many Indian tribes found reservation.

It was America's greatest expansion and the reason this country is great. For American Indians is is their twilight years.

In all our good, then, there is conflict. What we choose is good with some unfortunate characteristics.

Wisdom being the greater, we pause and give thanks for what we have been able to do in this country. And it is good, beyond the world's experience anywhere.

At this Thanksgiving, there is enlightenment at seeing the lesser meaning of these thin slices of ironic, impersonal facts and realizing the greater meaning of personal values, fallible as they are.

Justice Tom Reavley Tuesday said he believed in "bringing

Skies Clear For Weekend

2.07 Rain Drops Mercury

Central Texas temperatures tumbled early Wednesday as a cold front accompanied by heavy rains spread through the state.

The U.S. Weather Bureau at Austin predicted skies would begin clearing Wednesday night and fair weather would continue through the holiday weekend. Temperatures were expected to range from the low 30's to upper 50's.

An official 2.07 inches of rain fell Tuesday night and intermittent heavy rains continued all day Wednesday in the Cameron area. High temperature Wednesday was 47.

Snow fell Tuesday from the Southwest Texas mountains northward into the South Plains. Hard rain and hail in Killeen late Tuesday dampened spirits as well as participants in that city's Christmas parade.

Thanksgiving 1967 saw a sudden drop in temperatures followed by clear weather and mild readings in early December. On November 28, 1967 the official Cameron high temperature was 46. Highs for previous days were in the upper 70's.

Line 7 To Start After Alcoa Death

Start up of Line 7 was to be resumed Thanksgiving Day and restart of Line 6 was delayed two weeks following the death of one 54 - year - old Alcoa employee and injury to another last Friday night.

Alcoa spokesmen advised that Maryland N. Malone, 54, of Rockdale, died in falling debris from a ruptured storage tank. The concrete tank was filled with cryolite, a finely ground material used in the aluminum smelting process.

Funeral services were Tuesday in Rockdale.

Treated for a bruised arm at Rockdale's Richards Clinic was Clifton M. Peacock, 33, of Bartlett. He was retained overnight at the clinic and released.

Plant officials said both men were driving industrial vehicles hauling cryolite to the new smelting Potline 7 being prepared for startup.

The accident interrupted production on Line 6 when cryolite from the tank poured onto the potroom floors. The men were caught beneath tank debris and the powdery cryolite.

Malone was pronounced dead on arrival at the Rockdale clinic. He was carried by Alcoa ambulance.

Line 6 production was to be interrupted for about two weeks, officials told The Herald.

Startup in Line 7 was delayed until the Thanksgiving restart because of "complications arising from the accident and other technical problems."

The fatality was only the second serious incident in the plant's 16 years of operation, spokesmen pointed out. A fire in the metal service building in the spring of 1955 took the life of a foreman.

"However, the 1300 employees worked the entire year of 1967 without a single disabling injury and eventually attained a record of having worked continuously more than 2,780,000 hours safely," Alcoa officials noted.

Services were 2:30 p.m. Tuesday in Rockdale's Springfield Baptist Church, the Rev. W. C. Daniels officiating. Burial was in the new Rockdale Cemetery.

Surviving Malone, a native of Rockdale, are: his wife, of the home; two sons, Mervin and Don Erwin Malone, both of Austin, two step - sons, Morgan Smith, of Rockdale, and Fred Lee Smith, of Corpus Christi; a step-sister, Mrs. John Matson, of Burton, Texas; and nine grandchildren.

The native Rockdalian served in the European Theatre in the Army during World War II, receiving the Bronze Star for meritorious service, EAME medal with four battle stars, the Gold Conduct medal. He was discharged a staff sergeant in 1946.

He was an employee of Alcoa for 15 years and had been a licensed embalmer and funeral director with Phillips & Luckey, of Rockdale.

Malone was a Mason and member of the Baptist Church.

He has maintained a 2.3 average in the University of Texas 3 point system with a major in math and minor in government. He is co-chairman of the Universty Student Association Legislative Conference Committee and Straw Boss (vice president) of the Cowboy Association, a service organization.

Perrin was appointed to the Alcalde, honorary faculty-student liaison group at the University and is vice president of the Football Council. He is also a member of Delta Tau Delta fraternity.

He and Mack McKinney put Cameron on the sports page map in a sizzling dual play at Arkansas in 1967. This season Perrin has seen less football action because of a knee injury.

When he started college, Mike planned to enter dentistry. His interest in law grew, partly as he saw his brother, Mark, graduate from U of T Law School and move to Washington, then Chicago and Houston with the Justice Department.

This past summer Mike made a firm decision for law school after a stint with state politics. He worked in the John Hill for Governor campaign, stumping the state as president of the Youth for Hill organization.

the Justice.

Honors For Mike Perrin . . .

Mike Perrin, Cameron senior and an end on the Texas University Longhorn squad, is one of 11 scholar - football players being cited by the National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame.

He will be accompanied to New York by UofT Pres. and wife Harry Ransom, Governor and Mrs. John Connally, UT Head Coach and Mrs. Darrell Royal, House Speaker and Mrs. Ben Barnes among others.

Mike has gone a long way in a collegiate career as athlete and student, and has a half year to go.

Only 11 scholar - athletes are named each year for this honor and those only the major universities in the country.

He was an all - Central Texas standout as a back at Yoe High School as well as a high school leader and fine student. The record continues.

He is one of several Cameron youths in recent years who have distinguished themselves on the campuses around the state. This recognition is among the finest honors for those of his generation.

If it is honor of high calibre you seek, ask Mike Perrin what it takes to find it. He honors his hometown and family in this singular success.

Still God's Good Earth . . .

They don't have "to see Paris, if they're down on the farm" anymore.

We paraphrase the World War I song that identified America's entrance into European entanglements our progenitors from Plymouth Rock to Ellis Island escaped for 300 years.

We paraphrase it this Farm - City Week of November 22-28 because communications and travel are eliminating isolation of any rural part of America from the city and any part of the world.

The sons of the AEF Doughboy went for another World War and farther into Asia. And the farm, which began to lose its farmers at the Doughboy's commitment, became less remote, even less populated and more sophisticated after World War II.

Farm - City Week of 1968 finds the rural areas of this nation, of Texas and Milam County within cable distance, at least, of satellite TV communication. The farmer drives, in Texas at least, on paved farm-to-market roads which put him a few minutes from "town" and a hour or less, in most cases, from some size of city.

The farmer's production is the world's greatest, and his number is the least.

"Today one farm worker in the U.S. provides the food for himself and more than 42 others," John G. McHaney says in a Farm-City Week commentary.

The exodus from the farm of counties like Milam in Central Texas is ebbing. But it is unlikely we shall ever again see the family farm of a half century ago.

It is likely that rural population again will increase as towns like Cameron gird farm-based initiative around them and diversify surviving agri-business into industrial partnership.

It is possible family farming, highly scientific and somehow broadly financed, will be employed in the future to meet the incredible demands for foodstuffs technology must meet.

It is a different world atop the earth's surface, but God's good earth yields a good harvest as new elements enrich our soil and our nation's bounty in a technological age, this Farm-City Week, 1968.

OLD PHILOSOPHER

Dear editar:

"Well, haven't got too much to be thankful for this year," a friend in town told me the other day when I asked him if he had his turkey ready for Thanksgiving.

"What's the matter?" I asked.

"The matter? Don't you read the newspapers? They're still fighting in Viet Nam. School teachers striking. Streets not safe to walk in. Crime getting worse. Government's in debt. College students acting crazy. Taxes too high. Everybody dissatisfied..."

He was fixing to go on but I told him I had to go back home, which I did, and after I got here I got to thinking.

Sure, a lot of things are wrong in this country, but a thinking man can still find plenty to be thankful for, whether his television set is working or not.

For example, I'm thankful that the fireplace in my office out here on this Johnson grass farm works fine when the north wind is blowing, which is the time I need it the most. If a south wind is blowing, the chimney doesn't draw right and smoke fills up the place, but a man who can't tell which way the wind is blowing deserves to be smoked out, of this office or one you get elected to. Incidentally, I occupy probably the lonly office in the United States which has had its doorknob kicked off by a cow. Happened one day last year. What man in what city, I don't care how big it is, can make that claim?

I'm thankful some men have nerve enough to explore the moon, and I'm thankful I'm not one of them. The same goes for football.

I'm thankful a man in this country can think what he pleases, without having to do anything about it, just as others can try to do something about it without first thinking.

I've got lots to be thankful for, but if I mentioned all of them the government might want to raise my taxes.

I'm not sure the Pilgrim Fathers, could they return after all these years and look the place over, would be thankful for everything that has resulted from their trip, but I'm thankful they made it.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Poor Practices Cause Hospital Visits For Aging

One out of every six older people will enter a hospital during 1969, many because of poor health and safety practices, according to a specialist for aging with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Most people more than 65 years old stay in the hospital an average of two weeks, twice as long as the average stay of younger people. And the bill will be twice as large, adds Dorthy Taylor.

Persons more than 65 years of age often wait to see a physician until it is too late because they have inadequate resources to meet medical expenses, explains Miss Taylor at Texas A&M University.

Some are modest, some hope to avoid charity and others do not want to burden their families. So they put off seeking medical attention and hope the ailment cures itself.

Sometimes senior citizens try to treat themselves. From previous experiences, they feel capable of diagnosing their ailment. They may use home cures, medications from friends or the wrong medicines, warns Miss Taylor.

Senior citizens often are victims of poor diets. Food fads, food habits and lack of interest in eating when dining alone may lead to poor nutrition, says the specialist.

The older person's diet may be determined less by good judgment and more by the cost of the food or the ease with which it may be prepared.

Smith Selecting 'Family' For Jan. 21 Changeover

By Vern Sanford

AUSTIN

Lt. Gov. Preston Smith is making arrangements to take office as governor on January 21.

He already has selected some of his official family. Jim Oliver of the Legislative Budget Board, which Smith now heads, will become director of the executive budget office. Oliver is working on the budget which the new governor will recommend to the Legislature.

Jerry Hall, chief of the Capitol Bureau for Newspapers, Inc., --the Austin, Waco, Port Arthur and Lufkin dailies -- will become Smith's press secretary.

Certain to have a top job, either as secretary of state or as chief administrative assistant, will be Harold Dudley, who managed Smith's campaigns.

SCHOOL

New members of the Legislature came to Austin for two days to learn the ropes about the legislative process.

Speaker - to - be Gus Mutscher of Brenham, with the help of the Legislative Council, arranged the orientation sessions. Freshman legislators will thus have an insight into how the legislative process works when they start the 140 - day session on January 14.

Turn - over in the legislature this year was low. Only 30 new members were named to the 150-member House, and only three new senators among the 31-member Senate. Two of the senators have been in the Legislature before, so there are only 31 in all who have not had legislative service.

POVERTY

With 28.8 per cent of the Texas families having incomes under $3,000, well above the national average of 21.4 per cent, Gov. John Connally feels that Texas should continue to make every effort to find and cure the cause of poverty.

In his report on operations of the Texas Office of Economic Opportunity, the governor said that $113,038,642 in Federal money was allocated to anti - poverty programs in Texas during the year ending August 31. Grants ranged from the $18,055,846 used to operate the three Job Corps centers at San Marcos, McKinney and New Waverly to the $8,345, -358 allocated to 94 colleges to provide campus jobs for 28,073 college students who needed jobs to stay in school.

COURTS SPEAK

On January 8 the State Supreme Court will review an Amarillo man's suit against a TV station which identified him as a robbery suspect after he had been released as blameless by police. Lower courts held for the station.

High court will hear arguments January 15 in a suit wherein Ford Motor Company is charged as negligent in manufacturing a brake assembly on a new Ford truck that hit an Amarillo couple's car.

Trinity River Authority was loser in its effort to enforce a condemnation award for property it sought in San Jacinto County. Supreme Court overruled the application for mandamus.

Another loser was a Lubbock man trying to collect damages for arm cuts suffered when he accidentally rammed a fist through a liquor store glass door. Supreme Court declined to reverse the Tyler court of civil appeals rejection of a jury award of $2,524.

High court refused to order District Judge Woodrow Laughlin of Alice to throw out pre - trial findings of a retired special judge in a South Texas couple's suit against an Alice hospital.

Secretary of State Roy Barrera recommended that Governor Connally deny a request for an extradition warrant for Paul Amos Sandblom, one - time Corpus Christi financier, paroled to Arizona after serving a federal prison sentence for selling securities without a license. Barrera argued that the state has no right to prosecute Sandblom further on state charges.

OIL YEAR BRIGHT

For the fourth straight month the Railroad Commission left the allowable unchanged at 41.3 per cent of potential, permitting a December maximim production of 3,027,299 barrels daily.

December pattern will average out the year at 44.9 per cent of potential which (by the old standard) means 164.3 million flowing days -- highest since the 171-days of production during the 1956 -57

Five of 14 major Texas crude oil buyers asked bigger allowable, Suez crisis.

three less and six the the same.

LAND BOOM

Buyers a - plenty showed up at the Veterans Land Board's sealed - bid sale at which 233 repossessed tracts were offered to high bidders.

Total number of bids was 898, and the Board accepted the high bids on all the tracts except four. One 74 - acre farm in Guadalupe County drew 90 bidders. High man was Marion A. Coulter, who bid $22,502.

Board even managed to sell a 350 - acre tract in Maverick County on which no bids were received the first four times it was offered. It was one of the "block deals" from the veterans land scandals of the 1950's, and this time it drew 10 bidders.

WELFARE

Social workers for the State Department of Welfare soon will begin to spend their time trying to help solve the problems of people on welfare, instead of checking on their income.

A new policy was announced by State Welfare Commissioner Burton Hackney, after the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare decided to try the new system nationwide.

Persons applying for federal - state grants because they are needy will merely fill out a declaration form, and they will be accepted.

Hackney said states that have tried this system, and then tested it by spot - checking, have found that very few people give untruthful information.

So the time of the highly - trained social welfare workers can be spent trying to arrange job training or other programs to help get recipients off the welfare rolls. In the past, much of their time has been spent in a "policeman's role", checking to make sure that those who get old - age assistance, aid to dependent children, aid to the needy blind or totally disabled, did not have hidden sources of income.

Medical certification from a doctor still will be required on those claiming benefits as being totally disabled.

A pilot program has been under way in the Austin, Nacogdoches and Houston areas. It will be expanded statewide by July 1.

APPOINTMENTS

Governor Connally named Judge James F. Parker chief justice of the Ninth Court of Civil Appeals in Beaumont and picked Beaumont attorney Quentin Keith as an associate justice on the same court.

Glenn Biggs, former Abilene businessman, has been named president of National Western Life Insurance Company of Austin and chairman of the board of Mid-West National Life Insurance Company of Tennessee. Biggs served for two years as executive assistant to House Speaker Ben Barnes.

TELESCOPE DEDICATED

Ceremonies were held by the University of Texas Tuesday (Nov. 26) for the new 107 - inch telescope at UT's McDonald Observatory on Mount Locke near Marfa in West Texas.

Built for the University by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration and the National Science Foundation, the huge telescope is expected to play an important role for NASA in investigating atmospheres of Mars and other planets.

Previously the main instrument at McDonald was an 82-inch reflector installed in 1939 when the observatory was dedicated.

AIR CONTROL STANDARDS

Air Control Board has suggested new regulations to ban industrial smoke which would cut visibility to less than three miles.

Rules on light - blocking characteristics of pollutants would prohibit emissions of greater than 40 per cent density.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

FIRE, UNLIMITED

Burning trash in his back yard, Harold took note of the fact that the grass was dry and the breeze was blowing. So when the fire had died down, he stomped around the edges and scuffed up the embers with his toe.

But, though Harold didn't know it, the fire smoldered on. During the evening it spread to a neighbor's garage and burned it down. And in due course the neighbor filed suit for damages.

"But I really did try to put the fire out," Harold protested at the trial.

Nevertheless the court held him liable, blaming him for not taking greater precautions-such as throwing dirt or water on the embers to make sure they were out.

"Always and everywhere since the beginning of civilization," said one judge, "fire has been regarded as a dangerous as well as a beneficent agency, to be handled with care."

That doesn't mean the person who starts a fire is automatically liable for everything that goes amiss.

Thus a farmer who was tending a brush fire-with every reasonable safeguard-was held not liable when a sudden, ferocious wind spread the flames to his neighbor's land. Pointing out that the farmer had done nothing wrong, the court said he could not fairly be blamed for an "act of God."

But once a person has been negligent with fire, then his legal responsibility may be far-reaching indeed. He may have to pay not only for property damage but also for personal injury or death to persons trapped by the fire's spread.

He may even be liable to someone who, while not in danger at first, got hurt rescuing those who were. Take this case:

Sparks negligently emitted from a passing locomotive set fire to a house in which children were asleep. Their mother, outside the house, rushed in and managed to beat out the flames.

For the burns she suffered, the railroad was later held liable. The court said that, if railroad employees had given proper thought to the spark danger, they could have foreseen not only that a house might be set afire and its occupants jeopardized but also that a rescuer might get hurt too. Said one judge:

"Danger invites rescue. The wrong that imperils life is a wrong to the imperiled victim; it is a wrong also to his rescuer."

We take this opportunity to say "Thanks" to our many Friends and Customers for their patronage this year. It is our sincere aim and desire to give you prompt and courteous service together with the kind of replacement parts and equipment that you can depend upon for quality and at the very best price possible.

HEIRLOOMS OF FAMILIES TELL MILAM STORY

Pleasure and Profit Club met on Thursday, Nov. 21, in the home of Mrs. H. M. Yager in the Maysfield Community. Mrs. Yager and Mrs. J. A. Looney were co-hostesses for the Club.

The program was a "Show and Tell" of heirlooms and heritage of some of the club members.

Miss Ada Margaret Smith discussed and showed a deed which was for a grant of land purchased by the Smith family in the 1800's in Bell County and on Cow House Creek. she also showed old lockets with tin types of the family. Mrs. Yager discussed the coming of the Yager family from their home in Virginia and of relatives in the Civil War, Yeager Lane in Austin beng named for the first Yagers having settled in Bexar County, Austin, then of their coming into Milam County.

Mrs. J. J. Heitman told of her grandfather settling in the Ad Hall Community, for whom the community was named, and some of his experiences with the Indians in Milam County. She also discussed the settlement of Walkers Creek by her great - grandfather. She read an article taken from the Cameron Herald in 1886 which was an obituary of her grandfather Ad Hall's death, and written in a very unusual, story book fashion.

Mrs. Roy Hensley told of her family coming from Alabama and settling in the "Magic Valley", Rio Grande, and her experiences in settling in Milam County. Mrs. Herbert Nance spoke briefly on her mother teaching in the Walkers Creek Community. Mr. and Mrs. William J. Evard announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter April to William A. McClish, son of Mrs. Myrtle McClish of Akron, Ohio. The wedding will be at 7 o'clock in the evening, December 7 in the First Christian Church of Cameron.

Auxiliary Proves Adage 'Ask A Busy Woman'

If you see some Cameron women leaning slightly to one side with bulging handbag, it's a pretty good guess that they are members of the St. Edward Hospital Auxiliary. The bulging handbag? Order forms, for everything from books to bracelets.

The Auxiliary took on a massive job for a small group of dedicated women - they pledger $10,000 to the St. Edward Hospital Developement Fund. And so, the order books and heavy handbags.

Mrs. Bob Wells has responsibility for keeping up with all the book, pencil and bracelet sales made by Auxiliary members. It is like managing a variety store with samples of:

Multiple colored bangle bracelets imported from India in both childrens and adults;
Ballpoint pencil sets;
Candy recipe books;
School record books; and
Zip code finder books.

Members are also taking individual orders for home baked cakes, pies, cookies and other holiday foods.

The old adage "ask a busy woman and you'll get the job done" holds true for St. Edward Auxiliary. Many members are employed in addition to home and family responsibilities. They still find time for volunteer service at the hospital - and have added an all most full time job as salesman-money raiser.

A bake sale a few weeks ago was so successful that it may be repeated later. Also in the future is a benefit show featuring a noted western singing star.

The Auxiliary is also counting on donations to the St. Edward Auxiliary Memorial Fund to help meet their $10,000 pledge. Names of donors will be entered in a permanent memorial book that will be kept on display in the hospital entry. Hospital patients and their families who have been assisted by the Auxiliary started the fund.

The Auxiliary pledge will build and equip a magazine and snack bar in the new hospital. Plans are for it to be a service center for the Auxiliary volunteer, staffed by members. It would provide small items frequently needed by patients or their families during confinement.

The 34 member Auxiliary also has plans for expanding with the new hospital. Mrs. Sid Richardson, president, said "We hope to have branches or circles from each of the communities served by St. Edward with each circle taking responsibility for volunteer hours on specific days. But first we need to help build a new hospital."

Lexington Nips Groesbeck 26 - 14; Plays Rosebud At Rockdale Friday

The Lexington Eagles came out on top Friday night at Yoe Field with a 26 - 14 victory over Groesbeck, and will meet Rosebud for Class A regional playoff in Rockdale.

That game is set for 7:30 p.m. Friday night on Tiger Field.

Rosebud is District 22-A champion with a 7 - 0 district record. The Panthers defeated Grapeland last Friday night, 12 - 0.

The Groesbeck Goats were a slight choice over Lexington, but were unable to overcome the Eagle lead.

Lexington got on the scoreboard first when Ricky Spencer connected with Larry Carothers on a 56-yard pass play to the Groesbeck four. Kenneth Patschke went over from the one. The extra point try was no good and the Eagles led, 6 - 0.

A 75 - yard run by Groesbeck's Steve Sadler and a successful kick by Jimmy Herod gave the Goats a 7 - 6 lead.

Lexington chopped off the Groesbeck edge with another Spencer-Carothers connection followed by Patschke going over for the score. The PAT failed and at halftime the Eagles led 12 - 7.

Eagle guard Mike Jackson intercepted a Groesbeck pass in the third quarter. Several plays later Spencer scored for Lexington on a six - yard run. Ronnie Richter kicked for points.

The Goats then anrrowed the Eagles' lead to 19 - 14 with a two - yard run by Jimmy Bever in the third quarter, and a good kick by Herod.

The final Eagle touchdown in the fourth period ended scoring for the night. A 60 - yard Eagle drive ended with Pat Pratt slamming over from the one and Richter booting the extra point. Final score, Lexington 26, Gresbeck 14.

New Wildcat Stirs Year-end Activity In Milbur Field

By Lloyd Albertson

Another wildcat was scheduled for the Milbur Field in south Milam County last weekend as the usual increase of drilling activity near the end of the year got under way in the oil patch.

The Cabot Oil Corporation of Houston will drill the new wildcat, which will be a basal Wilcox test permitted to 4,000 feet. It will be the company's No. 1 Coffield. Location is on a 194 acre lease in David Houston Survey about eight miles southeast of Rockdale.

The Coffield's drill site will be 2,620 feet northwest of the Clark Oil and Refining Company No. 1 E. A. Cotton which was brought in as a good producer in November of last year.

The No. 1 Cotton created a good deal of interest among oil men and geologists as its discovery extended the Milbur Field about six miles to the southwest and into Burleson County.

The Milbur Field is said by geologists to lie along an ancient coastline of the Gulf of Mexico and to produce from the Wilcox in sand bars, and it was believed that the No. 1 Cotton was located on a separate sand bar.

light where there is darkness." He said God didn't make us with wings, wheels or transistor radios, but we have His talents to fly, ride and communicate over great distance.

We have the talents to see our ambivanence as well, how close a smile is to a frown, and how we may choose whether to laugh or cry.

At this Thanksgiving, we have additional perspective on what it means, but those basics are even yet clear enough to bring unity out of splits and factions which view a great holiday differently.

Outdoors In Texas—

By Vern Sanford

This is the time of the year when we begin to look for news about the fall waterfowl situation. Right now it looks bleak for a good season in Texas. Word comes from the prairie provinces in Canada that the country has suffered another drouth.

Water conditions in most of the nesting grounds of the ducks and geese has been very poor. Transects run by field men and others reveal a significant decline in the number of waterfowl on the prairies.

From all indications Texas sent a heavy migration back up the Alberta and Saskatachewan. But as unseasonable warm weather hit during the latter part of May, and a drouth gripped the area, the situation has become precarious.

In Canada the drouth is more severe this year than in 1959, as far as pond numbers and water levels are concerned.

It is well for Texas hunters to understand this problem. This state is at the extreme end of the main flight down the Central Flyway from Canada. Many ducks and geese stop along the way as they travel down along the east side of the Rockies. Some of them settle in the Texas Panhandle on the lakes and potholes. Others stop off at Lake Texoma to afford good hunting for both Texas and Oklahoma.

Still others take time out to visit a little at Texarkana, Lake O' Pines, Caddo and Dam-B before moving on to the rice flats of southeast Texas or the salt grass along the lower Texas coast.

The Texas coast, along Laguna Madre and in the vicinity of Padre Island, definitely is the winter home of the red heads. We get some 77 percent of the total red head population of the United States along that lower Texas coast.

That's why it is hard for many hunters, who see these tremendous rafts of red heads, to believe there is a shortage of any kind of ducks. But the few thousand we get along the coast in Texas represent so close to the total that they must be preserved at all costs.

Although there has been a slight increase in nesting in Texas waters it is too small to have any appreciable effect on the total population.

Mainly, however, Texas has the responsibility of protection of the birds while they are in the state. The Parks & Wildlife Commission has taken some radical steps along this line, in providing resting areas.

First of these was setting up Sheldon Reservoir, east of Houston, as a resting area for both ducks and geese. Later the state bought Big Hill Bayou near Port Acres and developed it as a refuge, with areas of it closed to hunting. Other parts are open to limited public hunting under a permit system.

Still later, the state developed a green tree refuge on Lake Texarkana. Here the water level is controlled so that in the winter months there will be sufficient water for the ducks and geese. In the summer the native vegetation is left intact.

Other protection has been provided on Matagorda Island, and along the Upper Laguna Madre.

King Ranch also provides thousands of acres of duck haven because no shooting is allowed on much of its shoreline.

Fortunately Texas has an abundant feed crop for waterfowl. Ducks and geese feed on the cut-over rice lands along the coast and go far back into the pastures. Also along the coast there is considerable marine life to provide them food.

There is a concerted program of improving all the wetland area to help the entire waterfowl situation. This work is being developed with the money we pay for the duck stamps—now $3 a year.

At the same time the Commission is using state license money and money received back from the arms and ammunition excise tax to develop its waterfowl resources.

This year Ducks Unlimited is spending another half-million dollars in Canada. In other words, funds seem to be forthcoming.
